International Federation of University Women news

IFUW to launch education manifestos

IFUW will be launching its education manifestos on 20 January 2015 in Geneva, Switzerland. The event will be an occasion for IFUW to share its position on how and why it is working towards increasing literacy and lifelong learning for all girls and women worldwide, as well as it recommendations for policy makers to implement strategies to achieve this aim. The event aims to bring together all those interested in education, equality and women's rights to meet and discuss the importance of lifelong learning for girls and women. For further information on the launch click here or contact Aoife Hegarty.

Advocacy

Cities for CEDAW: Virtual National Conference

Join the "Cities for CEDAW" virtual national conference as part of the Cities for CEDAW (Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women) campaign on 20 January 2015, supported by the NGO Committee on the Status of Women New York (NGO CSW New York). As the United States of America (USA) has still not ratified the Convention, the online campaign seeks to get municipalities within USA to adopt CEDAW as a city ordinance during Beijing Plus 20, a celebration of the 20th anniversary of the United Nations (UN) Fourth World Conference on Women. Speakers will include Lakshmi Puri, Assistant Secretary-General (UN Women), UN ambassadors and civil society leaders. IFUW UN Representatives to New York, Polly Woodard and Sophie Turner-Zaretsky, are members of the New York City for CEDAW task force. Participants at the virtual conference will have a chance to discuss priority issues about women's human rights and to send their messages to the UN. The event is free and open to all, and will take place at 11.30 am – 1.00 pm (Pacific Standard Time)/2.30pm – 4.00pm (Eastern Standard Time). Register for the event here.

Training and Proposals

Professional Training for High School Teachers at CERN

The European Organisation for Nuclear Research (CERN) is now receiving applications for its 2015 High School Teachers Programme. The programme consists of a 3-week training period, taking place every year since 1998 at CERN. This is open to physics high school teachers from all CERN member and observer states, as well as from other countries subject to funding availability. The 2015 edition will take place on 5-25 July, with spaces for approximately 50 teachers. Deadline for applications is 15 February 2015. Further information can be found here.

Did you know?

According to latest data by UN Women, in advance of the 20-year anniversary of the Beijing Platform for Action ("Beijing Plus 20"), women still remain distinctly affected by poverty, which further exacerbates and perpetuates the gender gap. More than 1.3 billion women do not have an account at a formal financial institution. In developing countries, women are 23% less likely to have regular access to the internet than men. In sub-Saharan Africa, only 23% of poor, rural girls complete their primary education. Read the infographic in full here.
