

GWI UPDATE – 24 January 2024

Special Edition: International Day of Education GWI Discussion Network: Green Education

To mark International Day of Education, celebrated annually on 24 January, GWI held an open member's Discussions Network dialogue within its global community of graduate women during 22 December 2023 to 19 January 2024. The initiative fostered exchange of ideas and insights among GWI members about green education, an approach to education that focuses on teaching and learning practices that aim to develop environmental awareness, sustainability standards, and ecological literacy.

Below, you will find a compilation of the valuable contributions posted by GWI Board of Officers, members, and interns. The collective wisdom and passionate youth visions underscore the importance of education in empowering women worldwide while aiming for sustainable societies and education.
